Products must comply with sanitary veterinary rules and can be easily recognized by the consumer. On the other hand, consumers can be informed about the importance of biological quality and health guarantees of "mountain food", which will increase the demand for such products (a measure implemented by the Ministry of Agriculture through the Mountain Zone Agency, based in Vatra Dornei). A Best Practice Guide on the Right of Use of the "Mountain Product" label and a National Mountain Products Register have been developed in 2018.

It aimed at increasing the capacity of CBA public administration and civil society to identify measures for eco-tourism development, find EU financing sources, draft and implement successfully the resulting cross-border projects. To support this capacity building, the project aimed also at better integrating local administrations into EUSDR relevant networks of administrations and experts.

In order to achieve these objectives the project organized 6 series of trainings as the core activities to train local human resources – the Danube Officers. Practical applications of the trainings was done during familiarization trips and by creating 10 ecotourism products, while an ecotourism conference and landscape contest brought the CBA and the best ecotourism experts and landscape planners into closer contact. A series of communication and visibility actions drew the attention of the general public and of other EUSDR areas to CBA ecotourism potential and its new Danube Officers.

The result was the development of a cross-border network of local public administrators able to steer the cross-border development of sustainable tourism at a cross-border and Danube level: a network of Danube Officers as described by the EUSDR Annual Forum in Ulm in 2015 – that has the tools to implement projects for eco-tourism development in the CBA.

The Transdanube Pearls- Network for Sustainable Mobility along the Danube project is co-financed from the European Regional Development Fund, through the INTERREG DANUBE Transnational Cooperation Program 2014 - 2020. The main objective of the project is: to develop the Danube regions by ensuring a viable, socially equitable mobility for the visitors and inhabitants of the respective areas by developing multimodal, environmentally friendly and efficient transport systems and sustainable tourism services.

The project will establish a network of tourist destinations engaged in the development of sustainable mobility in tourism. As part of this network, the visibility of the destinations will increase by offering visitors unique opportunities to travel along the Danube with sustainable means of transport. It offers to visitors the opportunity to access Pearls without using the personal car but only the existing combination offered by the mobility services.

In Romania, the region established as a "pearl" within the project covers the distance between the city of Orșova and the commune of Berzasca. These two territorial administrative units are part of the only counties in Romania that are located on the Danube and have territories included in both the disadvantage mountain area and the Carpathian Convention.

Within the project, professional training courses will be organized, which will provide local and regional stakeholders the necessary capacity to develop future services in the field of sustainable transport and tourism. The knowledge gained during the courses will be enriched by the experiences gained during the development of the information and mobility services.
resulting from the project - mobility services that will contribute to overcoming the deficiencies and will improve their quality to and within the tourist destinations.

Also, with a view to improving access to information on existing mobility services, the focus will be on setting up regional mobility centers, which can operate both within existing tourist information centers and as shopping stopping points (en one-stop-shops). The information platforms on international mobility and tourism will allow tourists access large information about the possibilities of traveling in the regions along the Danube without using a personal car. The specific offers of sustainable mobility in the field of tourism will offer attractive packages for visitors who prefer to follow a certain route.

The project partnership consists of public administrations and local authorities from 9 countries Austria, Germany, Croatia, Hungary, Romania, Serbia, Slovakia, Bulgaria, Slovenia.
